Donald Franklin Bradley Memorial Scholarship

Donald Franklin Bradley was born in Plainfield, New Jersey; grew up in the eastern United States during the Great Depression; and at age 20 joined the United States Army and fought in both the African and European Theaters. Upon his return to the United States following the close of World War II, Donald moved to California where he graduated from the Art Center College of Design in Los Angeles. For over 30 years, Mr. Bradley conducted photo documentation of the Nuclear Testing Program, which has been featured in many publications throughout the years. Many of his photos are now featured in the new Nuclear Test Site Museum in Las Vegas. Given the topic matter and the politics at the time, these may be the most profound photos due to their lasting impact on society. The most renowned photo ever taken by Mr. Bradley and seen around the world was of President John F. Kennedy and Dr. Edward Teller during their tour of the Nevada Test Site in the early 1960s.
